Hello, This Tobi a friendly Full-Stack Developer & AI Developer with 7+ years of experience helping businesses turn ideas into reliable, production-ready software.

I Build mainly with finance-focused businesses and startups, building secure, scalable applications using JavaScript, React, Node.js, Python (Flask), and AI-powered automation.

My focus is simple: build fast, communicate clearly, and deliver solutions that actually save you time and money. Whether you need a quick MVP, automation to reduce manual work, or a clean dashboard to track your data, I make sure the solution fits your business.

What I Can Help You Build

• Custom dashboards, admin panels, and financial management tools

• AI-powered automation (email parsing, reporting, decision support)

• Data collection pipelines, scrapers, and financial integrations

• Secure authentication systems and internal workflow apps

• Fast landing pages and mini-apps for finance businesses

• End-to-end SaaS MVPs, including payment integration How I Work & Solve Problems.

• Fast response & clear communication I respond quickly, ask the right questions, and keep you updated throughout the project.

• Fix issues efficiently From bugs and performance problems to broken APIs, I troubleshoot and resolve issues without wasting your time.

• Security-first mindset I follow best practices for authentication, API security, and data validation — especially important for finance-related apps.

• Built to scale I design systems that work today and grow with your business, using clean architecture and modern deployment workflows (Docker, cloud-ready setups).
